The Pittsburgh Gazette

THE PHILADELPHIA LOYAL LEAGUE, which long ago earned the cordial goodwill of every Republican in this Commonwealth, has conferred an additional service upon the public. It has offered a premium of $500 for the best essay that may be tendered "on the legal organization of the people to select candidates for office;" with minor premiums of $300, $200 and $100, for the second, third, and fourth in merit.

The existing modes of selecting candidates for elective offices are all about as bad as can well be made. A plan by which noisy and pushing men, who have no other merit but energy, can be made to stand back, and the most competent and deserving brought forward, would be of incalculable value.

IT is now asserted that Gen. Thomas's visit to Washington was in reference to affairs in Tennessee. Rebels are disfranchised by the laws of that State. Naturally enough, they do not like it. Gov. Brownlow has announced his determination to enforce the laws, allowing the the names of no citizens to be inscribed on the registers if they are by law debarred from voting. He has further given notice that he will not seek to abridge the right of public discussion, unless it shall be carried to the extent of counseling resistance to the laws. That the persons disfranchised are resolved to vote is plain enough, but whether the President will interfere to abrogate the State law, seems improbable.

THE letter of Secretary McCULLOCH, to Boston, shadows a heavy falling off in the revenue for the remaining months of the fiscal year. The causes assigned will doubtless prove satisfactory to the people at large. He is not without confidence that the country can be brought to a healthy financial condition without any serious derangement of business, believing the causes now operating against us to be temporary and exceptional. He speaks encouragingly of our prospects for a good crop, and of the general good times to be enjoyed during the coming year.

A CASE of sporadic cholera is reported this morning, from New York city. There can be but little doubt that the dread pestilence will re-appear in this country on the approach of warm weather. In nearly every city in the country, with the exception of our own, active sanitary measures have been adopted to ward off the scourge. Here, nothing has been done, and nothing will be done till cholera knocks at our door for victims, and then it will be too late to accomplish any good.

MR. WM. D. KELLEY is improving in the quality of his Southern speeches. At Greensboro, N. C., after he had finished, MR. J. R. MCLEAN, a member of the Confederate Congress, publicly thanked him, declaring that what he had said would promote Reconstruction. Yet MR. KELLEY made no unmanly concessions. His statements accorded with the sentiments generally prevailing at the North in Republican circles; but his manner seems to have been admirable.

THE sailing of President ROBERTS, of the Fenian Brotherhood, for Europe, may be regarded either as a mysterious movement on the part of the order, or as a denial to the reported contemplated raid upon Canada. Again, perhaps it may transpire that the patriotic officer has made a handsome thing out of the Irish liberty movement, and will take ease and enjoyment in foreign climes, at the expense of thousands of dupes in America.

EAGLE, the chap who offered a premium, in Alabama, for Lincoln's head, was arrested last week on a charge of complicity in the assassination, but promptly secured his discharge by exhibiting a pardon from the President. It was a clever performance on his part to secure pardon before legal conviction, and demonstrated the President's alacrity to screen his southern friends even from the suspicion of wrong doing.

THE demonstrations made in Ireland to induce the English Government to exercise clemency in behalf of the convicted Fenians had not been without effect. All the misguided patriots will probably escape the sternest penalty of the law, and possibly be pardoned. Such a course will exert a beneficial influence upon the Irish mind, and will prove a master stroke of policy on the part of England.

THE telegraph announces that it is reported "Mr. Greeley has written to Jno. C. Breckenridge, inviting him to return to this country and participate in reconstruction." We doubt the statement very much. There are enough wise gentlemen at home to attend to all political matters, and Mr. Greeley cannot be anxious for J. C. B's return on that score at least.

THE mission of the Japanese Commissioners, which has been veiled in mystery since their arrival in the country, is partially disclosed, perhaps, in the purchase of the ex-rebel iron clad Stonewall, now at the Washington Navy Yard. They have paid a good round price for the accession to their navy, if the figures telegraphed ($400,000) be correct.

THE intelligence from Fort Smith this morning is rather startling, announcing five thousand Indians on the war path, threatening Forts Belknap and Arbuckle. The army in the West should at once be strengthened, and the desperate, dissatisfied Indians either conciliated or driven at the point of the bayonet into docility and subjection.

THE President, on Sunday next, will resume his employment of "swinging round the circle." He will start on a trip to North Carolina. As he takes members of his family with him, instead of members of his Cabinet, it is reasonable to anticipate that he will not give his countrymen renewed occasion to blush.

WE are glad to hear from an exchange that the General F. J. Herron implicated in the financial troubles of the City National Bank of New Orleans, is not the gallant General F. J. Herron, originally of this city, but an ex-rebel officer of the same name and title.

IN the British House of Commons the Reform Bill has been so adjusted as to result in a gain to the popular cause; not, indeed, all that is desirable, but enough to make it comparatively easy hereafter to exact further concessions from the aristocracy.

THE prospects for Wendell Phillips remaining a dissatisfied man never were more brilliant than now. He declares he never will be satisfied till a black man is nominated for Vice President of the United States.

THE REFORM BILL—FRANCHISE QUESTION.

NEW YORK, MAY 29.—The Herald's London special says that the Reform bill was brought before the House of Commons at an early hour, and after an exciting debate, the question of the borough franchise rights was embodied in Mr. Disraeli's Reform Bill, was settled on the basis of household suffrage. The compound householder plan, at first proposed, is practically abolished. The main feature now stands, the tenant in a borough town is to pay his tax rate personally instead of through the landlord, and so secures the right of voting. In the matter of the franchise qualification in the counties, it has been settled that a qualified occupation of lands, or tenements worth the sum of twelve pounds, shall enjoy the right of voting when duly registered. An amendment was also proposed that the value of lands or tenements should be fifteen pounds. The Liberals in opposition declined to vote on the question. A compromise took place in the House when twelve pounds was agreed on as the amount of value of the lands or tenements. The result is again to the people.

MERCY ASKED FOR THE FENIANS.

Influential deputations, with petitions numerously signed, are asking mercy to Fenians convicts, are arriving in that city. Cardinal Paul Cullen had called on the Lord Lieutenant, when he urged that the lives of the condemned be spared. Prayers were offered in all the Catholic churches of Dublin, on Friday, invoking the Almighty to move the sympathy of the Clemency. A public meeting is called in Birmingham for the same purpose. A deputation of the Irish members of the House of Commons, with the Mayor of Dublin at its head, was to call upon the Queen and present a petition for mercy. The latter was thought to be influential as to turn the determination of the Derby Government in the case of Burke. Lord Derby had promised to recommendation to the Queen, who, after anxious consideration, assented to it. The announcement of this act of mercy was received in the House of Parliament with loud cheering. Lord Derby stated that the only reason for giving way was the overwhelming testimony of the Irish people, that it would be politic not to let the law take its course.

The Herald's Dublin special says: "The news of Burke's reprieve is received here with joy by all classes."

The Herald's Cork special says: "Advices from Mitchelstown, in this district, report that a Fenian force attacked the military station in Mitchelstown, in this county, and beat them with bludgeons and stones. No particulars are given."

The Fenian O'Brien has been found guilty of high treason, and sentenced to be hanged on the 13th of July next. The sentence will, it is thought, be also commuted in his case.

The Herald's London special says: "The reports of a disturbance in Mitchelstown, are not credited.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Organization of the Pennsylvania State Sunday School Convention—Ex-Gov. Pollock Chosen Permanent President—Addresses by President Elect, Rev. J. E. Graff, and Dr. Bomberger—Afternoon Session—Addresses of Rev. A. Cookman, Rev. S. F. Scovel, Prof. Wickersham and Others, and Discussions.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 28, 1867.

The elegant steepled structure, the First Baptist Church, located on the corner of Broad and Arch streets, at the appointed hour (10 o'clock) was pretty well filled in the body of the Church by an audience rarely gathered on such occasions. Hardly had the time come when Ex-Governor Pollock, with his usual promptness, as Chairman of the Executive Committee, called the assembly to order, and made some well timed introductory remarks, after which he proposed the Rev. John E. Graff as temporary chairman, who, on taking the chair, delivered a neat address on the importance of the Sunday School work and the necessity for earnestness in promoting it.

Mr. Wm. Getty, formerly of Pittsburgh, but for several years a resident of this place, was appointed temporary Secretary. Mr. Getty is now, as he has been for many years, an active worker in everything that is praiseworthy. He is an honor to the United Presbyterian denomination.

After appropriate religious services, in which Dr. Bomberger, Rev. Mr. Paily and Rev. R. H. Pattison, took part, a Nominating Committee of one from each denomination was appointed. During the time the committee were selecting officers, Dr. Bomberger made quite an eloquent address. Also brief remarks were made by a number of delegates, in connection with devotional exercises.

Rev. T. A. Fernley, chairman of Committee to Nominate Officers, reported the name of Ex-Gov. Pollock for permanent President with the following list of Vice Presidents: Rev. G. D. Boardman, Philadelphia; D. E. Small, York; Rev. J. H. Loomis, Lewisburg; Hon. Wm. Parker, Philadelphia; Rev. Dr. Peltz, Philadelphia; J. W. Weir, Harrisburg, Judge Jordan, Sunbury; Rev. Dr. W. Cooper, Philadelphia; Gen. Albright, Machunck; Rev. W. M. Baum, York; Rev. J. G. Gracey, Philadelphia; C. T. Roberts, York; Rev. E. Hawes, Philadelphia; Rev. D. A. Lafferty; Rev. Geo. Ross, Lancaster; Rev. J. S. Mitchell, Reading; J. H. Suydam, Philadelphia; A. F. Boaz, Reading; Rev. Dr. Bomberger Philadelphia; Rev. Joseph Price, Mahanoy; Rev. L. Marks, Pittsburgh; Rev. Geo. McMillan, New Castle; James Grant, Philadelphia; J. J. Evans, Downingtown; Rev. Dr. Wylie, Philadelphia; Rev. H. S. Getz, Mahoning City.

Secretaries—Henry C. Pollock, Philadelphia; W. H. Special, Harrisburg; Rev. Messrs. Philadelphia; Rev. R. H. Patterson, Philadelphia; Joseph Mallack, Germantown.

Treasurer—George Cookman.

The Chairman, Mr. Graff, introduced the President elect, Hon. James Pollock, with some brief remarks, to which he responded in his usual felicitous style.

The following persons were appointed a Finance Committee: Rev. Wm. Cumings, Philadelphia; E. J. Cowell, Erie; Rev. R. McMillan, New Castle; J. W. Weir, Harrisburg; Thomas McFadden, Esq., city; Gen. Albright, Lancaster, Philadelphia; Rev. J. P. Thompson, Lancaster.

After fixing the hours of each session, and attending to some unimportant matters in perfecting the organization, the Convention adjourned to hold an informal meeting in the evening, to arrange for some preliminaries in regard to the forty-third anniversary of the American Sunday School Union, which is to take place this evening at the Academy of Music.

The Committee of Arrangements have had a difficult task to perform for this occasion. Everything is gotten up on a grand scale, and the people vie with each other in the matter of entertainment. Mr. Henry C. Pollock, the energetic Chief Secretary, is Chairman of the Committee on Entertainment, and difficult and delicate as his duty is, in the distribution of our Convention, he is fully equal to the occasion, and maintains his equilibrium of temper and urbanity well.

Rev. T. A. Fernley, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, is connected with a leading New York Methodist paper. He is a fine writer and is a gentleman of great suavity of manners.

Several Pittsburghers are present, among whom we noticed Rev. S. F. Scovil, John W. Loy, Esq., John Davis, Samuel McMasters, D. Dennison, W. H. Kincaid and J. B. Lyon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention was opened with prayer by the venerable Rev. Charles Cook, D. D., formerly of Pittsburgh.

Immediately after the opening of the Convention, Rev. Albert Cookman, of this city, formerly pastor of Christ's M. E. Church in Pittsburgh, delivered an address of welcome, in glowing language, on behalf of the Sabbath schools and citizens of Philadelphia.

Rev. S. F. Scovel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, responded in behalf of the West, in words of generous welcome.

Committee on Business presented a report of much breadth of thought, in which is set forth the work of Sunday School Union, and it is expressed that the Keystone State be the head some other States because of the lack of combination and harmonious action. The importance of a state organization, with auxiliaries in each county, is strongly urged. Sunday School Institutes are recommended as a means to secure uniformity in the standard of Sunday School instruction. The great success attending the organization of Mission Sabbath Schools in large cities is mentioned, and the beneficial character of their efforts in this department. Questions for future discussion were presented which will be noticed hereafter. [illegible]

Professor Wickersham, of our Common School interests, spoke in very decided terms in favor of using the Bible in our Common Schools.

Committee on Resolutions, State Organization, and Devotional Services, were ordered.

The first question reported by the Business Committee: "The Relations of the Sabbath and the Church to the Sabbath School," was taken up. Quite a spicy discussion arose between ministers and laymen. The remainder of the afternoon was almost entirely occupied in the discussion of this question.

In the Committees on "State Organization" and "Resolutions," the West is represented by Hon. Benj. Rush Bradford, of New Brighton, and John F. Loy, of Pittsburgh.

Serious Railroad Accident.

SCRANTON, May 29.—While the mail engine on the Pennsylvania Railroad was precipitated from one of the valley bridges, about three miles from this place, on the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad, to-day, it was found that the recent heavy rains had loosened some of the stones which support the structure, and as soon as the engine touched the bridge it fell with a crash, carrying it off the track and down an embankment about fifty feet. The engineer, named Tobias Hosley, living in Burlington, N. J., and the fireman, were instantly killed. The platform man was seriously injured, and is not expected to live.

Trial of a Railroad Conductor for Embezzlement—He Is Acquitted

By this discovery it has been found practical to use gun cotton in artillery and small arms to great advantage over gun powder, effecting greater penetration.

FINANCIAL STATION.

Secretary McCulloch Declines a Public Dinner—He Speaks of the Financial Condition of the Country.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 29.—Secretary McCulloch declined an invitation to a public dinner, tendered by leading citizens of Boston, Speaking of the financial condition of the country, he says: "You must not expect our monthly statements for the rest of the present year will be as satisfactory as for many months past. The donations or bounties to soldiers, preparations for the payment of the national debt, war itself should be avoided, and very liberal appropriations of a miscellaneous character, will cause unusual drafts upon the Treasury. On the other hand, the general failure of the wheat crop, and partial failure of the cotton crop for two years, the slow progress in the restoration of the Southern States to their proper relations with the Federal Government, the general stagnation throughout the country, partly the result of the decrease of production and partly of the effects of the war, the unhealthy periods of excitement and speculation, together with reduced taxes, will very correspondingly affect the revenue. This combination of adverse circumstances may retard the return to specie payments, and with the large increase of specie sent to the Pacific Railroad and its branches or divisions, will prevent for a brief season a reduction of the public debt. I may even realize a temporary increase of it unavoidable, but will not weaken my faith in our ability to move on in the right direction at an early day. On the contrary, I believe the future will be found to lead to improvements in our revenue laws, and to the increase of efficiency in their execution, based on the increased industry of the Southern States, and secure greater economy in all branches of public service."

Mr. McCulloch's visit to Boston, he says, has not for some months reduced the circulation of United States notes, viz: the opposition of the banks to the present policy of contraction; existence of forebodings of financial trouble, and danger of panic in commercial cities, injurious speculation, legitimate business, and the temporary necessity of paying or converting large amounts of interest bearing notes within the present and first half of next year, on the fall crops last year, as above stated. He concludes: "You will not infer from what I have said that I am not hopeful in regard to our financial future. It has been my constant aim to so manage the national finances as to bring the country safely to a healthy financial condition, without being subjected to the severe disasters which many judicious counsellors would invite, a large debt, derangement of business, and diminution of industry, occasioned by war, and the redundant currency, would remedy these evils, but that I think has been accomplished is unshaken. The causes which are now operating against us are exceptional and temporary. The prospect for a good crop of winter wheat was never better; more spring wheat has been sowed and more corn has ever before. The people are beginning now to comprehend again this important truth, which was fully recognized for some years past, that prosperity is the result of labor; that industry and economy are indispensable to individual and national wealth, and I shall be grievously disappointed if another year does not witness a large increase of specie, of currency, and of the means of unchecked progress towards the resumption of specie payments, and steady reduction of the public debt."

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—Reports from the west say that thirty deserters left Fort Hays, Kansas, last week, three of whom were killed and scalped by the Indians near the fort, on the 25th.

Quite a number of gentlemen, including many capitalists from Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, New York, and New England, started on an excursion to the Iron Mountain and mineral region in South-east Missouri, this morning. Some of these parties have submitted a proposition to the citizens of St. Joseph, to the effect that if the city of St. Joseph will subscribe three hundred dollars they will furnish eight hundred thousand and complete the St. Joseph and Council Bluff's Railroad by the first of January. It is thought the proposition will be accepted.

General Meagher left Virginia City, Montana, on the 15th of April, with two companies of troops, for Fort Sanders, where he will establish headquarters with the Thirty-sixth Infantry. He will then go to Fort Phil Kearney with the Investigating Commissioners, and when matters are properly arranged, he will take charge of the expedition now en flotant.

Colonel Carrington will soon leave Fort McPherson for Fort Kearney, where he will establish the headquarters of the Eighteenth Infantry. There are only twelve soldiers at Fort Phil Kearney.

The Platte river is very high again.

FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS, via. LITTLE ROCK, May 28.—The Interpreter of the Camanches arrived here to-day from the Wichita agency. He reports the new war path. About two thousand are going toward Fort Belknap on the Santa Fe trail, and the rest are threatening Fort Arbuckle.

Siege of Vera Cruz Continued—Capture of Maximilian Confirmed—Imperial Fleet Taken—Affairs in St. Domingo—Pursuit of the Privateer Cuyler.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The steamer Eagle, from Havana on the 25th, has arrived with Vera Cruz dates to the 20th.

The siege of Vera Cruz continued. Shots were exchanged daily.

The capture of Queretaro and Maximilian is confirmed.

The Liberals had captured the Imperial fleet in the Gulf of Campeachy, with many guns, small arms, ammunition and a number of prisoners. Lieutenant San Martin, commanding the Iloop Eleanor, was ordered to be shot. The gunboat Mosquito escaped and had arrived at Havana.

A guerilla force of one hundred men surprised the garrison at Santiago, Yucatan, but were finally repulsed with heavy loss.

The Kingston steamer states that the British Consul Jones, who arrived at St. Domingo, May 6th, was prevented landing in the day time by a warning given by the French and Spanish Consuls that some personal violence might be attempted by the masses on account of his having acted as Consul at Cape Hayti when the affair of the Bull Dog took place. Consequently he went ashore after dark. Next day he dispatched a communication to the Admiral of the station, requesting the presence of a manof-war to protect his person and the British interests.

Solnave had dissolved the provisional government and declared himself Dictator, and sent a vessel to Curracoa, with an offer to Somiopue to return and assume the reins of the government. He is an unpopular and jealously looked for. Chevalier, the revolutionary leader, has been warned by Solnave not to land on the island in the event of personal violence from the people.

Official Visit to the Tycoon—American Missionary's Residence Destroyed—Panic in the Rice Market.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The steamer Herald, dated Yokahama, April 25th, says: The foreign ministers have accepted the Tycoon's invitation to visit Osaca. The French, English and Dutch ministers have already gone, with a combined naval force of six vessels. The American Minister departed for Osaca with the steamer Wyoming. The visit is purely social and to last one month. The Tycoon has made splendid preparations for the reception and entertainment with great pomp.

The dog ship Hartford lately arrived from Hiogo city and Osaca, reports that she will require three weeks to repair, so she will not go to Osaca. The Wyoming, after taking Minister Peirce, will commence her homeward cruise.

A disastrous fire last night destroyed the residence of Dr. Simmons, the American Episcopal missionary here. Included in the loss is a translation of the bible in the Japanese tongue, which required four years' labor to complete, as well as numerous translations of laws for the American Legation.

The party of distinguished Frenchmen, consisting of the Duke D. Penthurre, Count of Beaumont and Captain Fanoil, will leave here for Europe overland via Siberia. It will be recollected as the Royal graduate of the United States Naval Academy. The colonel and captain of the Japanese ship of line rank, who propose to educate themselves in San Francisco.

There is a great panic in the rice market. Two ships lately arrived with rice and fifteen others are on the way. The market is overstocked and no sale for the article.

The report was accepted and the Committee discharged.

MEXICO.

That France and Austria, in setting up the Mexican Empire, were moved by hostility to the United States, does not admit of debate. Some individuals, given to sharp analysis, have endeavored to institute and maintain a discrimination, creditable to their subtlety, but not warranted by facts. They say the hostility was not to the United States, but to the Popular Government existing here. This is analagous to the old theological distinction between sin and the sinner, which was earnestly insisted on, but somehow never was exemplified in practice. All the European monarchies, except Russia, were jealous of the unparalleled increase of this country in population, wealth, and power. The form of the existing government was not at the bottom of the feeling. France is more embittered towards Prussia than she is or was towards us; and solely because Prussia promises to take the leadership of Europe away from her. Probably the hostility to the United States was intensified by the character of its institutions, which served to encourage hopes of political freedom throughout the Old World; but it was primarily the development of national strength on this side of the Atlantic that prompted the invasion of Mexico.

It is not unlikely that with the desire to create a government near this country which should divide international authority with it, and hold it in check, was mingled a feeling of commiseration for the Mexicans, who seemed to be delivered up, a prey to political feuds and social anarchy. Various forms of government had been essayed by them, and none had proved equal to the duty of enforcing order, ensuring domestic tranquility, and meeting with fidelity obligations to foreign powers. To deliver so fine a country from lapsing into barbarism; to rescue millions of people from the dominion of tempestuous passions they were unable to subdue; and to open the way to security and improvement, were aims, considered apart from other motives, strongly to be commended.

The Empire has proved a failure; not so much because France and Austria were unable to maintain it against an adverse populace, as because the United States, having emerged from its great civil war with increased prestige and authority, vigorously protected against European interference with affairs on this continent. This was the first expression of homage the Republic received on its accession to fresh luster and renown.

The Empire having disappeared, what is likely to emerge out of the chaos that prevails? Will a Republican government, strong enough in the consent of the people, and sufficiently just in the use of power, to be respectable and respected? Past experience does not warrant such expectation. It is more reasonable to infer that the violence of brutal faction will rage unchecked.

In this event a strong temptation will be presented for the United States to step in, and ultimately anuex the whole territory. This is a movement which ought to be resisted from the start. There are dissonances enough among us already, without going forth on a crusade in quest of more.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

It cannot be concealed that political corruption has reached a pitch which gives sober minded citizens occasion for grave apprehensions. But persons who have come to the conclusion that such corruption is more common or flagrant in this country than elsewhere, have generalized from defective data. A full examination of facts will, doubtless, sustain the inference that badly as political matters are managed here, the management of them in other countries is liable to yet severer condemnation.

Last year the British House of Commons had abuses in elections to membership of that body under investigation. Commissioners were appointed to proceed to the different boroughs from which complaints had been forwarded with instructions and authority to make full scrutiny. Four boroughs, situated in different parts of the kingdom, were visited, and ample testimony taken to bring out all the facts. A degree of corruption was disclosed for which it is impossible to find parallels in the United States.

At Great Yarmouth, they found that one Parliamentary Representative had alone expended one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in purchasing votes in past years. "In 1859, fifteen thousand dollars was expended in bribing voters on behalf of the Conservative candidates." In 1865 the Liberals decided that they could beat the Conservatives only by resorting to their own modes of warfare, and accordingly they made arrangements to buy up the voters in a body. A wealthy Londoner was sent for and put upon the course, who brought with him "a number of oyster barrels containing six thousand pounds in gold," and agreed to share with the other Liberal candidate one-half of the expenses of the election. Between them they expended fifty thousand dollars, while the Conservative candidates likewise poured out their money like water. The Commissioners obtained the names of ninety persons employed in this single election in administering the bribes, and of four hundred and fifty-nine persons who received them, twenty-nine of whom took pay from both sides.

Many of the "Burgeses at large" in Yarmouth are non-residents, and it has been the practice among the candidates for years to transport them to and from the polls, at heavy expense. It is related that upon one occasion a vessel chartered to convey a load of these out burgesses from London, was detained off Yarmouth until the poll had closed, the captain having been paid by the other party to find the wind adverse. The Commissioners report, as the result of their investigations at Lancaster and Reigate, that "the deluge of corruption has been universal, and at the last election reached a higher level of society than ever before." The Liberals then expended in "direct bribery" $20,000, and the Conservatives $35,000. In Lancaster the names of 139 bribers were obtained and of 843 voters who received money payments. One Reigate candidate was overheard to say that "he meant to buy the borough whether or no," adding that he "had money and meant to use it." It was proved that his agents employed all the voters they could "as messengers, bill-stickers, and board carriers, and paid them regularly every week from the beginning to the end of the election." Under the pretext of receiving pay for service thus performed, they were bought up like so many cattle. In alluding to another candidate, the Commissioners say: "A deliberate and long formed determination had existed of carrying his election at any cost by corrupt means and in defiance of law." In 1862 one of the political parties in Tatness—erected sheds or "lin-hays" upon the waste meadows and a manufactured £10 qualification for "buildings and land" was thus obtained. This "sheme," introduced by Conservatives, was adopted by the Whigs, and it is related that in 1863 1862 the Cogus voters had a dinner, appointment which [illegible] candidate in his withdrawal was intense; the of that disappointment as drawn figure witnesses, grapic; women coming down with baskets to the Conservative Hotel, the extermination of yourselves, your wives and your children," and he is now doomed to be in his own person the most signal example of the mercy of the North. An ignoble peculiarity of nearly all Davis' manifestoes was his virulent denunciation and coarse scorn of his enemies. Even civil war became more odious in his hands. He proclaimed the Northerners to be "a people devoid of every mark of civilization;" "disturbers of the peace of the world;" "miscreants;" "dirty Federal invaders;" "wretches whose atrocious cruelties have stamped infamy on their Government;" "whipped spanniels" and so forth. If brag and brutal abuse could have won success for the Southern Confederacy, Jefferson Davis would now be the conquering hero of the South.

A Lover of Two Sisters—Strange Freaks of the Tender Passion.

The passion called love sometimes causes men to play the most fantastic tricks, while its effect upon the other sex is no less strange and contrary to reason. At least we were led to draw these conclusions yesterday from hearing the story of Alfred Barling, of LaCrosse, Wis., who came here a day or two ago in search of a beautiful but fallen angel with whom he was infatuated to an extent altogether incomprehensible to less susceptible mortals. We gather the following fragments of the history of the man's loves and sorrows, and extend to him our sincere compassion:

Some years ago Mr. Barling married a Miss Thayer, with whom he lived happily but a short time. A year ago he obtained a divorce from her, after she had borne him two interesting little pledges. The divorced wife had a sister, Emma Thayer, a beautiful girl of nineteen, with whom Carling fell desperately in love. Apparently, his passion was returned with equal ardor, and the two pledged their vows of love and only waited the arrival of the appointed day to become man and wife. The lovers went from LaCrosse to Bellevue, Iowa, and put up at a hotel. In anticipation of being soon united to the object of his adoration, Barling lavished his wealth upon her, decorating her with silks, and jewelry, and all the gewgaws that wealth could buy. The lady's love was nourished and increased by these lavish expenditures, and she seemed as anxious as he for the arrival of the wedding day.

Before that day came, Barling had occasion to visit a neighboring town, leaving his inamorata in charge of the landlord of the Bellevue House. On his return, the landlord took him aside and breathed into his ear a tale of horror that nearly froze his blood. A traveller had stopped at the hotel during Barling's absence, who, seeing the lovely Emma moving in respectable society, informed the landlord that he had known her as an inmate of a palace of pleasure in St. Louis, kept by a Madam Mack, situated on Tenth street, between Morgan and Franklin avenue.

The lover was petrified at this disclosure, and at once broke off the engagement. According to his statement, he purchased a trunk for her and was about sending her home to her father, when she gave him the slip, and left the town taking with her his own trunk, containing some two hundred dollars' worth of valuables. Supposing that the fair fugitive had returned to her old haunts in St. Louis, he came here on Monday last and stated his case to the police. Officer Shaw was commissioned to hunt up the deceitful Emma, and he soon found her. She had disposed of most of the valuables in her lover's trunk, and had pawned a portion of her wardrobe for $50. The officer found her on Wednesday, and by authority of Barling, offered to furnish her with money to return to her friends in Wisconsin. She refused to have anything to do with Barling, but asked him to loan her $50, promising to return home by herself.

Barling now repented of his rashness in breaking off the engagement. On examining his feelings he found that he loved her still, fallen as she was—loved her deeply, wildly, madly. His burning desire was now to make up with her and induce her to go back with him to Wisconsin. This she flatly refused to do. She had never loved him at all, and accused him of maltreating her sister. She had pretended to love him only for the purpose of supplying her wants from his purse. Yesterday morning Barling offered to send $200 to the bank in La Crosse for Emm's use, provided she would go home, but she still refused, and remains at Madam Mack's, leading a life of shame. The lover is almost distracted, and lingers about the place in the fond hope that the false one will repent and go with him to her father's house in Wisconsin. He is completely infatuated, and is haunted night and day by the image of the enchantress, who is as cold to him as ice, and will doubtless remain so. We await further developments in this strange love chase.

Ancient and Modern Building in England.

The London Telegraph says:

"Our forefathers' forefathers wrote on brass; we scribble on water. Their great deeds figure in the skies as starry constellations; our meagre performances hazily on the sand, and with the sand disappear. So says the eulogist of the past, and so, too, says the innovator and trades' unionist, Mr. Edward Coulson, Secretary of the Operative Bricklayers' Society of London. 'Looking at the old work which you have had to take down,' asked Lord Elcho, in his quality of royal commissioner, 'and comparing it with modern work, do you think there was more reality and honesty in the old work than there is in the modern?' 'I do,' answered the witness; 'you find that now all kinds of rubbish are used to make mortar. If you pull down an old piece of work you find the mortar hard and sound; but if you do that in the new work after a few years, you find the mortar crumble to pieces.'

"The testimony is valuable; but those who are neither trades' unionists nor operative bricklayers could have told Lord Elcho quite as much and more. To an observant eye, Belgravia is already in ruins, while the walls of Honorius scarcely show a settlement. The signs of rough sieges scar and dint the ancient fabrics, but they bear no gaping wounds of their own infliction. Those who are still young might safely wager that the 'mansions' of Tyburnia will not hold together during the ninety nine years for which the lease of most of them is held; while the muro torto near which Belisarius begged an obolus, and probably did not get it—and which had been out of the perpendicular, as Procopius relates, long before the time of that reduced strategist—is no more on the incline now than it was then.

"When the capital of Italy was lately transferred from Piedmont to Tuscany, fair Florence had to make sacrifice of her curving walls, and to give up the ground on which they stood for a boulevard to be made by an English company. Our worthy countrymen, whose experience was limited to modern workmanship, imagined that demolition would be easy and inexpensive; but the extra costliness of this part of their contract is to upset all their fine calculations of profit. The walls could not be pulled down; they had all to be blown down, and the outlay in powder has turned out to be something enormous. To come nearer home; when the Broxbourne and Hartford Branch of the Great Eastern line was in course of construction, just below Ware the navvies came upon the old Roman ford, many feet below the surface, whose whereabouts had hitherto been a puzzle and bone of contention to archæologists.

"Roman work, too, was there in abundance, and the navvies broke all their picks in striking it. We could travel to Dover and tell similar stories; but why labor to prove the incontestable? The works executed to-day will break no picks, and need no powder. Even Time, the deveurer, will never have the chance of making a toothsome morsel of them; they eat into their own heart, rotten to the core from their very cradle. The words pronounced by the Pope on Ash-Wednesday to the Cardinals whom he signs on the forehead with ashes, 'Remember that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return,' might with equal appropriateness be pronounced by the fair lady or distinguished statesman who, with silver trowel in hand, lays the foundation stone of our public buildings. Dust, rubble and 'pockets' of sand in the modern's palace are made. If, O British householder, you ask for the proof, look at your own cracked ceiling. 'The very sepulchres,' says Byron, speaking of Rome, 'are tenantless of their heroic dwellers;' but the sepulchres are sound—sounder far than the most recently finished 'desirable residence for a nobleman or gentleman' in S. W.

"Have we lost the knack, and are we disinherited of the craft of our sires?"

A Receipt Worth One Thousand Dollars.—The Ohio Cultivator says: take one pound of sal soda and a half a pound of unslacked lime, put them in a gallon of water and boil twenty minutes, let it stand till cool, then drain off, and put in a strong jug or jar, soak your dirty clothes over night, or until they are wet through, then wring them out and rub on plenty of soap, and in one boiler of clothes well covered with water add one teacupful of washing fluid; boil half an hour briskly, then wash them thoroughly through one suds, rinse, and your clothes will look better than the old way of washing twice before boiling. This is an invaluable receipt, and I want every poor, tired woman to try it. I think with a patent washtub to do the little rubbing the washerwomen might take the old Bible and compose herself on a lounge and let the washing do itself.

—The child of a noted courtezan of Elmira has inherited $20,000 from a repentant father.

—A Hindoo philosopher, in giving rules for the selection of a wife, says, "above all things the gait of a girl must resemble that of a young elephant."

—A lady, about to be married, was warned that her intended, although a good man, was very eccentric. "Well," she said, if he is unlike other men he is the more likely to make a good husband."

—Henry St. Paul, of the Mobile Times, a few days ago sent a challenge to John Forsyth, of the Register. Mr. F. returned no answer to the note. Mobile is evidently becoming tinged with Northern sentiment, on the subject of dueling, at least.

—The New York Commercial Advertiser states that one-half to two-thirds of the city of Charleston, S. C., is owned by Frazier, Trenholm & Co. It is also said that the firm paid taxes on $14,000,000 worth of property in South Carolina during the past year.

—An American lady in Paris went out shopping, and was surprised at buying an elegant silk dress for fifteen dollars, and could not account for the low figure until the polite Frenchman naively reminded her that in her country the "people have the luxury of self-government, you know, and prices are very high."

The Crops in the Northwest.—The Chicago Tribune says: "The farmers, as usual with that race, are beginning to grumble and predict a failure of crops, though as yet it does not appear that ruinous damage has been done, except in the necessary delay of operations, which lengthens the time of harvesting later than usual, and give a possibility of injury by early fall frosts. The continued rain and coolness thus far is said to be rather beneficial to wheat and small crops, giving them firm and deep roots, capable of sustaining a greater yield when the hot weather comes on with a rush, as it probably will. Corn planting has been almost entirely prevented as yet, and this crop, which needs heat more than moisture, will suffer if the sun does not make its appearance. A loss to the crops this year, or any considerable damage to them, would be an especially great misfortune, but there is no good reason yet to fear this. Seed time and harvest do not often fail, although this is almost annually predicted."

BE ON YOUR GUARD

Against the imitations and counterfeits of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, with which the PIRATES who make DISHONORABLE LIVING, by preying upon the sick and suffering, are now endeavoring to flood the markets of this country. Whenever these ROGUISH MONGERS are discovered they are immediately prosecuted by the proprietors, who expend thousands of dollars annually in tracing them out and bringing them to justice. Within a short time injunctions have been obtained in the Courts of the United States against a number of individuals and firms, and suits are now in progress against several others, all of whose names will be given to the public. But in spite of the utmost vigilance and activity of their detective agents, the undersigned are of course unable to protect the public entirely against piratical imitations of a Standard National Tonic, everywhere in request, and as readily convertible into cash as United States Bonds or Treasury Notes. They, therefore, as a measure of precaution, direct attention to the fact that a finely engraved label, representing St. George and the Dragon, and a beautiful private stamp, bearing the impress of the head of the Government, appear on every bottle of the genuine BITTERS. The article is further protected by a peculiarly shaped bottle, with the signature of "Hostetter & Smith," blown in the glass. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are sold by druggists generally, and never in bulk.

HOSTETTER & SMITH.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swayne, of Philadelphia, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their out tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many have been cured, but only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen more, which effected a permanent cure of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Pinus Canadensis, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by the use of this delectable of Anabounine, pu blished some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine tree, says: "Its terebinthine is diuretic, and other diseases of the urinary passages; it gives and extensible influence to the mucous of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is excellent in diseases of the kidneys, and in bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to the usual avocations; and instead of relaxing, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; or half dozen for $5.

Sarah Rafferty vs. Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. Action to recover damages. On October 18th, 1865, John Rafferty, husband of plaintiff, had one of his legs broken by being run over by a train on defendants' road, from the effects of which he died on the same day. Judgment of non-suit ordered to be entered, with leave to plaintiff to move the Court in banc to set the same aside.

Common Pleas Court.

Before Hon. Edwin H. Stowe.

The case of Catherine Negley vs. James McCully, J. B. Lyon and William Macrum went to the jury Wednesday forenoon. Verdict for defendants.

Dennis and Bridget Richardson vs. M. R. Trevor. Plaintiffs took a non-suit and the jury was discharged.

The American Iron Mountain Company, of Missouri, vs. James O'Connor. Action to recover $2,000 for iron furnished. The defence was set off. On trial.

In the case of M. Streng & Co. vs. Frederika and Francis Kettle, on motion of J. J. Siebeneck, Esq., the Court granted a rule on plaintiffs to show cause why the judgment should not be stricken off as to Frederika Kettle and opened as to Francis Kettle, and be let into a defence—leave of the execution to remain in the meantime.

Exciting Foot Race vs. Time.

On Saturday last our borough was thrown into a state of excitement, says the Armstrong Republican, by the announcement that a race of five miles against time, for a purse of two hundred dollars, was to take place in the afternoon. The streets were lined with people, and considerable interest was manifested. The origin of the race was as follows: A bet was offered that no man could be brought to run or walk over the proposed ground, from Kittanning to Watterson's, five miles distant, in one hour. Owing to the muddy condition of the road, and its long, steep hills, as well as the fact that a drizzling rain was falling, the offerers of the bet, and many others, were confident of their winning. The proposition was accepted, the stakes put up, and a young man —Henry Hare—produced, who made the distance, and a half mile added, in forty-nine minutes. He returned from the task apparently as little fatigued as before he started, and we are satisfied he could, even under all the objective circumstances, have won in much less time. An immense concourse witnessed the start, and quite a number of our citizens accompanied the young man throughout the race. Considerable funds of our sporting friends changed ownership, and foot racing "on the brain" is prevalent.

Railroad Accidents.

The Blairsville Press says: Mr. John Ashbaugh, late of this place, was badly injured by the cars on Wednesday last, under the following circumstances: Mr. Ashbaugh left his house with the intention of handing a letter to the engineer of one of the freight trains going east. He attempted to cross the track, which was between his house and barn, to facilitate giving the letter to the engineer, and while crossing he was struck by the cow-catcher, to which he clung with the help of the engineer, who had hurried forward to his assistance, until the train was stopped. It being down grade and a large train, he was carried about three-fourths of a mile from the place where he was struck. Mr. Ashbaugh was injured about the thigh and body, and had his head and face badly cut. He is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Mr. Joseph Martin, late of this place, was killed at Milwood, on Wednesday last. He was a brakeman on a freight train, and was knocked off the train by the bridge at Milwood, the entire train passing over his body tearing it to pieces, killing him instantly. He was about seventeen years of age, and the only support of his widowed mother.

Internal Revenue Decisions.

Blacksmiths and stencil cutters are required to pay special taxes as manufacturers, if the articles manufactured by them exceed one thousand dollars per annum in value.

Horse-nets, when manufactured from untaxed material, are subject to a tax of five per cent. upon their entire value; when made from taxed yarn, or warp upon which a tax or duty has been paid, the tax is on the increased value.

When the members of a business firm obtain an act of incorporation, and the partnership realty is conveyed to the corporation, each partner receiving stock therein to the amount of his partnership interest, the deed from the firm to the corporation should be stamped like ordinary deeds, at the rate of fifty cents for each five hundred dollars or fractional part of five hundred dollars of the consideration or value.

Another Case "Settled."

Another false pretence case of the peculiar kind was entertained by Justice Smith, of Shaler township, day before yesterday. John K. Ganster was the prosecutor, and Thos. Montgomery defendant. Prosecutor was a "boiler" in Reese, Graff & Co's, rolling mill, in the Ninth ward, and the defendant was his "helper." Some time since Mr. Ganster employed another person to work with him, and gave Montgomery money to pay this third party; but instead of so doing, Montgomery converted the money to his own use. This state of facts was presented as a case of false pretences, which the magistrate allowed to be "settled" by the defendant refunding the money and paying the costs. This is about the first case of false pretence as that before Alderman Mullin, concerning sheep skins, of which we made note some days since.

Payment of Postal Employees.

Postmaster General Randall has issued the following to route agents, railway postal clerks, and baggage masters in charge of mails:

"Ordered, That from and after July 1, 1867, the present mode of paying route agents, railway postal clerks, and baggage masters in charge of mails, be discontinued; and that they be paid from the said date monthly by the postmasters at such terminal office on their route as may be designated by the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department."

This order is very important to the parties concerned because it insures prompt payment at the end of each month, instead of the delay consequent upon the transmission of certificates of service and action of several clerks in the department.

Stamp Duties in Bounty Cases.

No stamp duty is required on "powers of attorney or any other paper relating to applications for bounties, arrearages of pay, pensions, or to the receipt thereof from time to time." This provision applies to those papers only which relate to United States bounties, pensions, &c., and does not extend to those relating to State or county and town bounties, &c. A power of attorney to endorse the official check of the United States disbursing officer issued for money to be applied in payment of a United States bounty or pension, or in discharge of a claim against the United States for which is technically known as arrearages of pay, is a paper relating to the receipt of such pension, bounty, &c., and is therefore exempt from stamp tax.

Attempted Suicide.

A woman named Neill, residing at No. 21 Tunnel street, Third ward, laboring under mental aberration, attempted suicide Tuesday evening, by precipitating herself into the Monongahela river from a barge moored near the gas works. After being rescued, she made a second attempt, again jumping into the water. She was rescued a second time, and was yesterday conveyed to the Insane Asylum. It is represented that she has nine children, and that her demented state of mind is owing to domestic troubles.

To be Prosecuted.—Prosecution we understand is about being entered against Benjamin Trimble and also the present managers of "Trimbles Varieties," on Penn street, for non-compliance with the law in respect to State license. It is alleged that the establishment has been operated for a number of years without the proprietors taking out the required State license, the penalty for which is a fine of not more than one thousand nor less than two hundred dollars, payable into the treasury of the county in which the conviction takes place.

The undersigned, Wholesale Dry Goods merchants, have agreed to close their respective places of business, from June 1st until September 1st, at 5 o'clock P. M., and on Saturdays at 4 o'clock P. M.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, } WEDNESDAY, May 29, 1867. }

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137¼; Eighty-one [bonds, 111¼; Five Twenties, 1862, 109½; do 1864, 105¾; do 1865, 106½; 1865 consols, 108; Ten Forties, 99¾; Seven Thirties, 106⅜@106⅝; Michigan Southern Railroad, 87½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 74½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 96¾; Erie, 80¾; Chicago and Rock Island, 97½; Chicago and Northwestern, 32½; do preferred, 87¾; New York Central, 98¼; Reading, 103½.

The gold market, contrary to all expectation, opened firmer this morning at an advance of ⅛ per cent; this may be attributable to shipments by to-day's steamer, as well as the manipulations of a stock robbing clique operating for a rise, toward which, after the severe decline since the middle of last week, the market is inclined. Governments are in better demand, and Consols and Five Twenties of 1862, are ½ per cent. better to day. The share market has shown an average advance of ½ per cent. on all the leading railroad securities, and fancies are not in favor, and none but good dividend paying stocks are sought after. Bank stocks are dull, and Insurance stocks are slow of sale.

It is generally believed, although the movements of the currency may, during the summer suffer a little disturbance from the heavy business of the Treasury, that the disbursements will probably equal the receipts, and no serious hindrance to business is to be apprehended from the locking up of currency in the Treasury. Next month, it is true, the income tax is payable, and with the other taxes, will withdraw some forty millions out of the channels of the circulation. But these payments will be widely distributed, and the disbursements will be rapid on account of the heavy amounts of Seven Thirties that are being purchased by the Treasury for cash, and of the compound notes, of which eight millions mature in June, and twelve millions in July, all of which the Secretary has announced his willingness to pay off on demand.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady:

U. S. Stocks, 1881	111¾
" " 1864	105¾
" " 1865	106⅜
" 10-40s	99¾
" Consols	108
August 7-30s	106½
June 7-30s	106½
July 7-30s	106½
Dec. Compounds, 1864	106¾
Gold	137¼
Silver	131¾

—The following figures, said to be reliable and carefully compiled estimates, will probably throw some further light upon the course of the Treasury from the present time until the close of the year, a period of seven months:

Total gold interest which must be provided for from present time to Jan. 1, 1868, inclusive	68,000,000
Loan of 1847, maturing Dec. 31, 1867, (gold)	7,000,000
Total currency interest during same Period, including both Seven Thirties and compound notes	46,000,000
Total compound interest notes maturing during the same period	86,000,000

The above amount of gold interest may be somewhat increased if the entire issue of August Seven Thirties be converted. The government estimates of customs duties from date to January 1st, 1868, is $90,000,000. Against the compound interest notes maturing during the year, the currency interest for the same time, and the expenses of the government for the same period, the Treasury has the receipts of internal revenue, fifty millions of three per cents, and the cash balance on hand, which is over one hundred millions.

The total amount of conversions and redemptions of Seven Thirties of all issues thus far is about $810,000,000, of which $170,000,000 are of the issue maturing August 19, 1867, leaving $130,000,000 of that issue to be converted or redeemed. The balance of the conversions are of the issues of June and July, 1867, and reach $150,000,000, of which the government has purchased a large portion. This leaves the total amount of Seven Thirties of all issues now outstanding about $520,000,000. The total issue was $830,000,000.

—Noticing the recent speculative operations in wheat, the Chicago Tribune says:

"The stories of shipments of wheat from California to France, and thence to New York, and stories of shipments of grain from the Atlantic and Pacific to the cities of the North-west, have gained a currency and credence which the facts of the case do not warrant. For instance, a few days ago some California wheat was received in Chicago, and the fact was announced as an extraordinary one; but the flour consisted of a few sacks bought hither as a curiosity, and became the only deficiency in the supply of our market. The present enormous prices of wheat and flour are temporary, and every one knows them to be unsubstantial, and that at any moment they may tumble. These prices are the result of the combinations of speculators upon exaggerated statements of the scarcity in breadstuffs; and the press of the country in giving currency to the mythical importations of wheat from foreign countries, are but helping the speculators through with their scheme to plunder consumers. In less than six weeks the wheat harvest will be gathered in the whole southern half of the wheat growing belt of the country, and that harvest promises to be a most abundant one. A few weeks later will follow the harvest up to the northern line, and that, too, promises to be most liberal. Under these circumstances, every one must perceive that the present high prices rest upon an exceedingly flimsy foundation. The 'corner' upon breadstuffs has been successfully maintained much longer than the speculators expected; but its time is nearly spent. Millers buy no wheat at present prices, and sales of flour are confined to retail dealers, to supply the immediate wants of consumers. Transactions in wheat and flour, however they may be reported, are merely settlings upon the time that the 'corner' can be sustained. The fall is inevitable, and cannot be far distant. If there be a farmer or miller, or any other person holding any wheat or flour for a further rise, such person will have his eyes open very speedily. Yesterday there were 110,000 bushels of wheat and 67,000 barrels of flour in store in Chicago. The daily receipts are fully equal to the demand for local consumption, and there is no other demand now, and will be none until the crop comes in. Speculators are ready to sell out, and their victims will be just that class of men who believe that the mills of Rochester and Chicago are running on wheat imported from Europe, and that Chicago is sending to California for flour. This is so well understood here that it is surprising that any person buying in the city continues to hold either wheat or flour, with the expectation of an additional rise."

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

CRUDE—The Crude market continues dull but firm, with but little disposition manifested on the part of either buyers or sellers to operate. As we have repeatedly stated, there is no incentive to cause any life or animation, the price at Oil City being entirely too much inflated for this market, and, as a consequence, there are no Pittsburgh buyers at that point, excepting probably some few who have contracts to fill. Spot oil is scarce, and may be fairly quoted at 7½c, while for all June, buyer's option, would doubtless command 7½c, and it could probably be bought at that figure, seller's option. The fact of the matter is, the demand both for present and future delivery is very light, and but a limited amount would find buyers at the figures above noted.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil continues very dull and weak, with but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. Sale of 500 bbls standard white for first fifteen days of June bids at 25½c, delivered in Philadelphia, and 500 for first ten days of June, at same figure. Prime light straw to white, may be fairly quoted at 24½c, and standard white at 25½c, and even at these reduced prices, there is no improvement in the demand.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

RIVER NEWS.

The river was apparently at a stand last evening with scant eleven feet in the channel. In the afternoon, the Allegheny was reported rising at Oil City, with six and a half feet in the channel, giving good evidence of heavy rains at the head waters of that stream. Here, the weather was warm and unsettled yesterday, with indications at times of more rain.

Business was more active at the levee yesterday, the offerings of freight for all points being more liberal, and the landing presented a more than usual cheerful appearance; there is still an abundance of room for improvement, however.

There has been no arrivals since our last report aside from the regular packets, and the Argosy, from Cincinnati, with a very good trip was the only transient departure. The Belle, from Cincinnati, and the Armenia, from Saint Louis, are among the first boats due.

The Maggie Hays will positively leave for St. Louis to-day, and shippers will confer a favor by sending down their bills of lading as early as possible. The Maggie is a very comfortable and reliable craft. The Minnie, Capt. Shaw, is next in turn for St. Louis, and will at once commence business.

The Glasgow is loading at Wheeling for St. Louis. We can spare two or three more boats for that point, if the Wheelingites will agree to load them.

The Spray has withdrawn from the Portsmouth trade, and she is now laid up somewhere below. The Leclaire is laid up at Cincinnati—she is offered for sale. Her officers have reached home.

The Ida Rees, Capt. Joe. Brown, is filling up steadily for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will soon be ready to take her departure.

The Wild Duck and barges arrived at Saint Louis on Monday, and the Great Republic was expected in Monday night.

The Deer Lodge is about due at St. Louis from Fort Benton, and she is announced for a second trip leaving about June 10th.

The Armenia, with 250 tons of iron ore for Ironton and Steubenville, and 75 tons for Pittsburgh, left Cincinnati on Monday, and the Belle arrived there the same day. The Lorena and Julia No. 2 passed Louisville on Monday, as did also the W. A. Caldwell pass Evansville.

Mr. Jos. Moyer, an old river clerk, has received an appointment as clerk in the Cincinnati Postoffice, through Postmaster Thomas.

The Louisville Courier, of Monday, says: The arrivals of coal since our last report have included the following towboats: Sam Roberts, with nine barges, the Mary Ann, with ten barges and boats, and the Eagle, with nine, and the Diamond with twelve, making in all 420,000 bushels of coal. The Sam Roberts came in Friday, and returned the same evening. The Eola left Pittsburgh Friday, with seven barges of coal for Henry Wood & Co. The Rob Wilson departed on Saturday, with six barges, for Hughes & Kennedy.

The Louisville Democrat, of Sunday, says: The P. W. Strader and Richmond left Pittsburgh together Sunday two weeks ago. The P. W. Strader arrived here yesterday morning, and the Richmond will be here this morning.

An ingenious man in Troy is building a little propeller which has four screws, all located directly under the vessel. The idea of the inventor is that the location of the screws under the vessel will give it much greater speed, as at that point the screws operate upon "solid water" every hour, and consequently gain additional power and efficiency.

A Dubuque paper reports a rumor that Davidson's line of boats running between La Crosse and St. Louis is to be discontinued on account of the dull times.

The rivers in Wisconsin and Minnesota which flow into the Mississippi all have a good stage of water, and are still rising. The Mississippi is still rising at St. Paul.

Saturday's St. Louis Republican says: The following mountain boats passed Yankton, Dakota, on the dates given: Nile, May 4th; Big Horn, May 8th; Benton, May 8th; Ida Stockdale, May 10th; Gallatin, May 8th; Abeona, May 10th.

The steamer I. H. Trover, bound to Fort Benton, has encountered numerous boat sunk, accidents and other discouraging occurrences. The boat has been aground several times, has had high winds on five separate occasions, has been on fire three or four times, and has otherwise proved a source of annoyance and vexation. She has also been "hoodooed" with the small pox and was disposed of at a cost of $100. A spar fell and broke the leg of another fireman, but this one was provided for at a further expense of $150.

The English Government is making preparations for a final trial of the resistive merits of wood and oil as fuel for generating steam. An ordinary service boiler belonging to a gunboat is first to be tried with coal, at the common rate of combustion, and then forced consumption
